

Video of the week-iglidur® e coating for automotive hinges.

The automotive industry is notoriously difficult to satisfy, especially with such high standards in every area of production. Utilising igus® products within the car's design, not only reduces weight and noise but is also more cost-effective than their metal counterparts.

In this week's video of the week, examples of iglidur® products are showcased in various areas of the car. To watch the video showing the polymer products® in action, please visit
